Following the luncheon, Mrs.

Mrs. Martin 100% For Discipline

We have received a most interesting letter from Mrs. Estelle Beard Martin of Appomattox exressing past memories and views on discipline.

Mrs. Martin says she is proud of the discipline given her by her parents, it was great. When Sunday morning came you automatically knew that you were going to Sunday School and to Church and they were delighted to be going. Her family was taught to work in fields of tobacco and corn five and one-half or six days each week, occasionally they had a Saturday afternoon off and it was great.

Mrs. Martin says she can not understand the parents of today. It appears to her that most parents let their children do mostly as they want to and go when they want to go. She concluded, "I may be old fashioned, but I could still work one row at a time."
